Cisco Development Organisation

Welcome to a network of talented graduates who envision new possibilities, enable innovation, and create things never before imagined.

Business Overview

In CDO, we design, develop and deliver high quality, innovative and world-changing products, shaping the future of Cisco and our customers.

We are looking to recruit for the expansion of our Global Software Research and Development Lab based in Galway, Ireland. The Galway site has specific responsibility for the innovation and development of Cisco's market leading Unified Communications portfolio. This involves the creation of software applications which integrate voice, video, instant messaging, social networking and other media for the PC, mobile devices, phonesets and web applications.
